

MEMORANDUM

To: Economic Development Commission
Town of Stonington

From: Glenn Chalder, AICP

Date: October 16, 2012

Subject: M-1 Zoning Strategies

---

Overview

The Stonington Economic Development Commission requested that we review the zoning requirements for the Manufacturing (M-1) zoning district and provide observations and recommendations for possible regulation changes to facilitate economic activity in the district. It is our understanding that these recommendations may be submitted to the Planning and Zoning Commission for possible incorporation into the Zoning Regulations..

Our findings and recommendations are based on our review of the Stonington Zoning Regulations and a public informational meeting held on September 27.

Findings and Recommendations

The Manufacturing (M-1) zoning district has been applied to a variety of sites and situations and it does not appear to be the best approach to promoting economic activity in these areas. The recommended approach is to consider three (3) zoning designations:

- Existing Historic Mills – These facilities are effectively built out and the main activity in the future will be to occupy these spaces and/or lead to redevelopment as opportunities present themselves. It may be possible to allow occupancy of existing buildings (where no building expansion or new construction is proposed) through a Staff process rather than requiring an application to the Planning and Zoning Commission. New uses might also be considered for these sites.
- Large Sites / Campus Settings – These locations consist of larger sites which can conform to the dimensional standards and other requirements in the M-1 district. Some new uses might be considered for these locations.
- Smaller Sites– These locations consist of smaller sites which may have difficulty conforming with the dimensional standards and other requirements in the M-1 district. While some new uses might be considered for these locations, new dimensional standards might provide for the most economic opportunity.

The categorization of the sites is presented on the following pages.
