Please join the Stonington Department of Planning for a conversation about Accessory Dwelling Units.

The Town's 2015 Plan of Conservation and Development recommends exploring modifications to Zoning Regulations that would expand the use of accessory dwelling units. Before contemplating any specific changes, the Planning and Zoning Commission would like to hear from local residents on this issue. This Community Conversation is an informal discussion with the Department of Planning about issues related to trends in housing, demographics and options related to the regulation of accessory dwelling units.

Please contact the Department of Planning for more information at 860-535-5095 or email at dop@stonington-ct.gov.
